

Virtual Conference

Similar to in-person conference, the title, topic, program and profiles of speakers and audiences are crucial to the success for all participants. CPRJ Virtual Conference ensures professional presentation and good organization of the virtual event for attendees' engagement and networking.

Virtual Conferences in Medical, Plastics Packaging, 3C Electronics, and Automotive were organized in past years.

We make virtual events simple, lively and interactive:

How can you benefit?

Present your insights on innovative products, technologies, applications, solutions and success cases

Maximize your brand awareness by participating in live brainstorming sessions with industry experts to discuss hot trends and topics

Acquire sales leads and survey reports after keynote speeches

Streaming your presentation throughout the year on AdsaleCPRJ.com

Most important is to interact with potential buyers and audiences

Data from 2020 CPRJ Virtual Conference-Plastic Packaging Week

We salute all of our sponsors with our heartfelt thanks!

What are sponsors saying?

Wahaha Group: The theme of the virtual packaging week was in line with the current market needs. The combination of various forms of speech and round-table discussion gave the audience a strong sense of on-site experience.

Jiangsu Jitri Advanced Polymer Materials Institute: The virtual conference was good. The guests did not always promote the product, but talked about some common technical issues in the plastics industry. It is worth watching!

Tederic Machinery: The virtual conference hosted by Adsale provided great opportunities for interaction and communication between upstream and downstream industry chains. From planning to implementation, Adsale continuously enhances its programs and content, which benefited both suppliers and buyers. During the live broadcast, the audiences were very active, and the engagement was great.
